HISTORICAL AND BIOGRAPHICAL NOTES

“John A. Gallaher (Democrat), elected State Geologist July 13, 1897, by the State Board of Geology and Mines, is a native of Missouri; born of James Arbuthnot Gallaher and Mary Thompson Wear, residents of Johnson county, October 5, 1842; his early education was in the public and select schools of his native state; at the close of the civil war Mr. Gallaher entered the Christian Brothers’ College, in St. Louis, where he devoted three years to the pursuit of classical and scientific knowledge, in that and the adjoining Missouri Medical College; after three years of training under illustrious educators, Mr. Gallaher took up mine engineering, and has made it, along with geology, the study of his life; his field of observation reaches from ocean to ocean and from Canada to Mexico, inclusive.” (quoted from the Official Manual of the State of Missouri 1899-1900, p. 504)

Gallaher died of cancer while in office on June 21, 1900.
